Role

This is an outstanding opportunity for a student interested in management processes to assist in the implementation of Project Management tools based on a Scrum/Agile framework for the company to realise its digital strategy. Mentored throughout, you will work closely with a team to assess what capability is needed to implement and embed the new digital technology. This is to ensure that moving forward, management teams use data to effectively identify ways to help employees do their jobs better, be happier and more productive. This is a great opportunity for both personal and professional development.

Tasks

- Informing staff of the importance of using data to identify key issues to ensure correct decision making moving forward
- Educating staff to realise the benefits of breaking down large projects into smaller manageable goals within the Agile/Scrum framework
- Promotion of over 1800 e-learning courses to ensure all staff are fully competent to do their jobs
- Teaching and training to ensure new digital capabilities are realised throughout the whole organisation

Desired Skills

- A degree in any discipline considered
- A strong interest in Project management and Training/Education
- Excellent communication skills
- Persuasive
- Awareness of Agile or Scrum techniques
- Highly organised
- An interest in intercultural relations
- Good presentation skills
